Thursday Night Author Talk - Finding Freedom on the Grand: Brantford's Early African Canadian Community

Date and Time: Thursday, February 4 07:00 p.m.

Event Location: Online

In celebration of Black History Month, Karolyn Smardz Frost will discuss Brantford's early African Canadian community and share stories of escaped slaves who found freedom in Canada. She will be joined by Lawrence Jackson, grandson of Albert Jackson, Toronto's first Black Postman.

This program will offer insight and knowledge into the history of black people in Ontario and the Brantford/Brant areas.

Click "Register Online" to register now!

Karolyn Smardz Frost Bio

Karolyn Smardz Frost is an archaeologist, historian and award-winning author specializing in African Canadian/African American transnationalism. She holds a PhD in History (Race, Slavery and Imperialism), and is an Affiliated Scholar at SUNY Buffalo and an adjunct professor at Acadia and Dalhousie Universities. The former vice-chair of the Toronto Historical Board, she also served as the Executive Director of the Ontario Historical Society. In 2012-2013, Dr. Frost was the Bicentennial Visiting Professor for Canadian Studies at Yale University.

A pioneer in public archaeology, Karolyn's 1985 excavation of Canada's first Underground Railroad site, the home of Kentucky freedom-seekers Lucie (Ruthie) and Thornton Blackburn, made history. She spent more than 20 years researching their experiences in slavery and freedom. Her 2007 biography of the couple, I've Got a Home in Glory Land: A Lost Tale of the Underground Railroad, received several historical and writing prizes. It remains the only book on African Canadian history ever to win Canada's top literary honor, the Governor-General's Literary Award for Non-Fiction.

Co-author of The Underground Railroad: Next Stop, Toronto! (2002) and co-editor of The Archaeology Education Handbook: Sharing the Past with Kinds (2000); Ontario's African-Canadian Past (2008) and the Canada-US collaborative volume, A Fluid Frontier: Slavery, Resistance and the Underground Railroad in the Detroit River Borderland (2016), Karolyn is widely sought after as a speaker and storyteller. She co-authored the first required African Canadian social studies curriculum within the Toronto school system. Karolyn is currently exploring direct connections between slavery and the founding of King's College, Nova Scotia.

Karolyn's most recent book, Steal Away Home (2017), tells the story of fifteen-year-old Cecelia Jane Reynolds who made her dramatic escape from Louisville slaveowners, via the elegant Cataract House hotel at Niagara Falls, New York. The pilot for a five-part mini-series based on Steal Away Home is being scripted by Conquering Lion Productions (Book of Negroes), and I've Got a Home in Glory Land is under option for a major documentary film.

Karolyn is a Toronto native, but now divides her time between her Wolfville, Nova Scotia, home and a cottage on the province's beautiful Mahone Bay.

Community Conscious: A Virtual Literary Salon

Date and Time: Tuesday, February 23 07:00 p.m.

Event Location: Online

It's an online book club with a twist! We're reading books that inspire reflection and pair well with wine.

Each month, join Carrie Sinkowski (Community Legal Clinic - Brant, Haldimand, Norfolk) and special guests for an enjoyable evening of exploring themes of social justice and connecting literature to local community.

Upcoming featured titles:

- February 23 – Little Fires Everywhere, by Celeste Ng
- March 23 – The Glass Hotel, by Emily St. John Mandel
- April 27 – Born a Crime, by Trevor Noah

For added dimension, Burning Kiln Winery and Instagram sommelier Somm on a Dime will confer to recommend a wine pairing for each book. Interested participants have the option of ordering directly from Burning Kiln, with free shipping and a discount available when purchasing a three-month package. And all attendees have the chance to win an overnight stay at the historic Burning Kiln Farmhouse in St. Williams, Ontario!

About participation:

- One-time registration is required for access to and updates about our monthly meetings on Zoom. There is no cost to participate. Just come prepared with a curious mind, insights to share, and respect for difficult topics and different life experiences!
- The library can offer a limited number of book club copies to borrow in the weeks leading up to each meeting, in addition to regularly circulating books, ebooks, and audiobooks. Register early to request information about this service.
- Participation in the wine program is optional and self-directed. You will be contacted after registration with details and recommendations.
